A crossword puzzle grid is shown, consisting of 15 empty squares arranged in a cross-like pattern. The grid is defined by black lines. There are 6 clue labels in green boxes, each with a black arrow pointing to the starting square of a clue:

- Top: "El planeta más cercano al Sol" (The planet closest to the Sun) - points down to the top square.
- Left: "Roca caída del cielo" (Rock fallen from the sky) - points right to the leftmost square.
- Second Row from Top: "Todo lo que existe en el espacio" (Everything that exists in space) - points down to the second square from the top.
- Third Row from Top: "El planeta en el que vivimos" (The planet we live on) - points right to the third square from the top.
- Fourth Row from Top: "La Tierra es uno" (Earth is one) - points right to the fourth square from the top.
- Bottom: "El planeta rojo" (The red planet) - points down to the bottom square.

The grid layout is as follows:
